My name is Anders Dernback. I have created several thousand slideshows over the years. These do not require a teacher, but can be studied as if it were a picture book with text. Most often the subject is history. I have chosen to let more people benefit from this and read them or have students read them. They can be used for teaching purposes.

Thank you for nice words in your reviews Laura. I am from Sweden (born 1952) I have used Power Point since 1999. I believe I have a very nice collection of Power Point and topic history. About 2 000 slideshows is active on Internet. Since 2015 I got over 1 million readers from 195 countries. I use English or Swedish text. I have about 600 slideshows in English. Just Google + bildspel + Dernback and you will find the slideshows. Have a nice day! / Anders Dernback

Wonderful thanks!! This was a big help. All my students loved it. Students used with 8th, 9th, 10th grades

I have visited the websites of the major libraries to see if they use the famous technology that arrived in 1984. Power Point slideshow software allows you to turn texts into a picture book.

Text alone is not as effective in teaching or entertaining the reader. Academic studies of school classes show that the combination of reading text and also looking at pictures results in more effective learning.

Storybooks without pictures are not as popular as those with pictures.

The libraries do not have collections of Power Point slides. In Sweden, no library has slideshows and probably not in other countries. The Library of Congress has 1,000 slideshows that are not searchable.

Where are slideshows stored? A few large and privately owned players have dominant positions.

Many millions of slideshows are stored and divided into different topics. The subject of history also appears. But it is private individuals who voluntarily and unpaid produce the slide shows.

Often it is a teacher who makes his own slide shows on the subject of history. The design will then be for the purpose of making a presentation in front of the class. The slide shows are designed so that they only work if someone speaks to the slides. Often teachers use too small text and images. Just because you know the principle of how to make slideshows, doesn't mean that the slideshows are well designed. Few become really well-designed pedagogically.

Since there are very few slideshows designed as picture books, even a collection like my own with 4,200 slideshows has a globally dominant role.

Examples are the Internet Archive which has 807 billion saved documents and my 470 slideshows that I have stored right there make up the majority of slideshows designed as picture books.

The Guinness World Record does not yet have any records for the number of slides made with the subject of history and by a single private person. I have searched with the major players and within the subject of history and am quite sure that my collection with the subject of history and design as picture books made with Power Point and in the languages Swedish and English, is the most extensive.

Now this is not about any competition and no compensation has been paid to me in any form since I started making Power Point slideshows in 1999. No income comes or has come from my 4,200 slideshows that are on the Internet. The public can read these and can also download PDF files with the slides.

The statistics on the number and from which countries visitors come are given out free of charge to see that stores slideshows with the major players and it provides information on the number of visitors, when and from which countries.

For my part, the US is the dominant country in terms of readers, but there are readers from 195 different countries. The slides have texts in English, Swedish, Spanish, French and Danish. Since 2015, approximately 1.2 million people have read at least one slideshow, and new readers are coming

Approximately 200,000 new readers per year. In the past there were also readers on YouTube where slideshows were filmed and with a narrative voice. But YouTube didn't like a video criticizing YouTube's rules that let advertisers pay for YouTubers' purchased registered visitors. You buy fake visits that bring income to the YouTuber. The price for fake visitors is lower than the revenue. In the end, consumers pay. The interlude of YouTubers turned billionaires is just expensive and unnecessary. YouTube closed my account. There have been 140,000 viewers via that channel and 33,000 new ones per year.
